The Smart Money: Advancing Your Accounting Career

Mihaylo College of Business and Economics at Cal State Fullerton

The accounting profession is experiencing growth across the United States, and it's where the smart money is for students deciding what to study in college.

Mihaylo College of Business and Economics at Cal State Fullerton is a preferred recruiting school for the Big Four and the regional accounting firms in the Los Angeles and Orange County areas — the school prides itself on strong interaction with the Southern California business community.

Mihaylo offers a Master of Science in accountancy, a Master of Science in taxation and a Master of Science in taxation for working professionals. Each provides a challenging curriculum, team projects, and valuable internships — all of which improves marketability in the job market. Our graduate students attain a broad, strategic managerial perspective, balancing theory with practical application, and strong leadership skills.

Mihaylo College is the only business school in Orange County, and one of only five in California, to hold the prestigious dual accreditation from AACSB in business administration and accounting. As the fourth-largest business school in the nation with an unmatched alumni base of over 60,000 graduates, Mihaylo College features nationally recognized faculty, award-winning students, forward-looking curriculum and flexible programs, which attract talented and diverse students from around the globe.
